

Labour Line

ARTICLES AND NEWS OF NOTE

The Home Line

Pensioners should never again be left high and dry

The federal government wants to hear from Canadians on how to fix a broken system that abandons loyal workers.
<https://tinyurl.com/y5bo973e>

Two thousand waterfront workers set to strike at Vancouver's key container terminals

Longshore workers are set to strike at key Port of Vancouver container terminals on Monday morning
<https://tinyurl.com/y4e6c9sw>
<https://tinyurl.com/yxjfsn>

Vancouver airport workers still fighting contract flip despite province's plan to end the practice

Ninety workers at YVR are at risk of losing their seniority, union contract and even their jobs in September because the airport authority has decided not to renew one of its contracts

<https://tinyurl.com/y5age9ct>

The Future of Work: Taking care of freelancers

As independent workers become a key source of labour, will business and government offer them a safety net?

<https://tinyurl.com/yxuujduf>

The Rise Of Hotel Robots In Seattle Worries Workers

Embassy Suites employees, represented by UNITE HERE Local 8, are negotiating to include in their first contract with Hilton the right to collectively bargain over the implementation of new technology

<https://tinyurl.com/y3f5hnes>

McDonald's Workers Strike to Protest Pay and Harassment Complaints

Hundreds of workers at McDonald's Corp. restaurants walked off the job on Thursday to protest what they described as low pay, unsafe workplaces and sexual harassment

<https://tinyurl.com/y63zfq5x>

<https://tinyurl.com/yyaetdx6>

<https://tinyurl.com/y3dl7paq>

American Call Center Workers Rally for Their Filipino Counterparts

While American call center jobs are offshored to the labor-hostile Philippines, some American call center workers are publicly supporting Filipino workers' right to organize.

<https://tinyurl.com/y6hfjzeg>