

Labour Line

ARTICLES AND NEWS OF NOTE

The Home Line

October is Canadian Library Month.

<https://tinyurl.com/y5p7u387>

Metro Vancouver bus, SeaBus drivers issue 72-hour strike notice

Working conditions appears to be the union's key sticking point, with drivers complaining that increasing ridership is leaving them frequently behind schedule, with no time for lunch or bathroom breaks
<https://tinyurl.com/y59oowqt>

Long trial set for construction firm charged with criminal negligence in B.C. man's death

Rock scaler Sam Fitzpatrick was killed by a falling boulder on a Kiewit worksite in February 2009

<https://tinyurl.com/y4jvzq8>

Union workers step up their strike ... against the Canadian Labour Congress

In what unionists are calling awkward optics, Canadian Labour Congress staff members are in their second week of picketing the CLC in a long-running dispute

<https://tinyurl.com/yvhhqrr2>

N.S. government passes bill to end Crown attorneys' strike, but will not proclaim it

Liberal MLAs used their majority to pass Bill 203 about a week after it was introduced in an effort to prevent the prosecutors from going to binding arbitration when the two sides couldn't reach a contract agreement

<https://tinyurl.com/y4gvumjr>

Drivers, advocates aim to hold ride-sharing industries accountable

Drivers of ride-sharing businesses want to unionize and organizations want the law to take them to task

<https://tinyurl.com/yxl89ev2>

Fine companies who refuse gender pay transparency, unions tell Von der Leyen

Compulsory gender pay reporting backed up by fines must be among the "binding pay transparency measures" promised by Ursula Von Der Leyen if they are to have a real impact

<https://tinyurl.com/y27l6nrv>