

Labour Line

ARTICLES AND NEWS OF NOTE

The Home Line

Whodunit in the Library: Someone Keeps Hiding the Anti-Trump Books

A public library in northern Idaho says its books about gun rights and President Trump keep wandering far from their correct spots on the shelves.

<https://tinyurl.com/vd2uqti>

'It's an essential service': No cuts to libraries in 2019 Alberta budget

While many services saw cuts under the recently released provincial budget, library funding in Alberta will stay the same

<https://tinyurl.com/rtdf99g>

The 9 things you should never do in a library, according to former employees

<https://tinyurl.com/rgwahsk>

Why are there so many labour disputes in B.C. right now?

Job actions across the province are largely coincidental, but there are common threads

<https://tinyurl.com/rltb55k>

Gig workers rising: Foodora couriers and Uber drivers organizing for justice

Workers in the "gig economy" are organizing to transform the precarious working conditions in their sector.

<https://tinyurl.com/s9rned4>

Fight for Racial Justice Fuels Little Rock Educator Strike Preparations

The site of struggle to defend unions and public education has moved quickly from Chicago to Little Rock

<https://tinyurl.com/vslxlb6>

How Big Corporations Spy on Their Workers to Keep Their Wages Down

If corporations get the green light to spy on workers, they'll have an easier time ferreting out organizing campaigns and bullying employees into dropping them

<https://tinyurl.com/va6zepe>

I'm joining the McDonald's strike to show my son we deserve better than poverty

How can McDonald's claim to be a family restaurant when so many of their own workers and their families are living in destitution?

<https://tinyurl.com/sur3vt2>