

Labour Line

ARTICLES AND NEWS OF NOTE

The Home Line

Work Is Not A Place

Our Lives and Our Organizations in the Post-jobs Economy

<https://tinyurl.com/tsw9xjy>

Film Friday: Tilco Striker

In the middle of winter in 1965, women workers at a plastics factory in Peterborough, Ontario went on strike

<https://tinyurl.com/vnrwbo2>

https://cupe.ca/sites/cupe/files/field\_publication\_past\_issues/economy\_at\_work\_winter\_2020\_en\_0.pdf

B.C. aims for better patient care by increasing safety of health-care workers

Province says injury claim costs increased by $11 million last year

<https://tinyurl.com/teznrgn>

Ontario teachers plan to challenge government's wage-cap law

Ontario's four major teachers' unions said they are launching charter challenges to a law capping public sector wage increases, arguing it violates their collective bargaining rights

<https://tinyurl.com/t4ajbfu>

The gig economy keeps growing, but its workers are fed up

Collective action has become a rallying cry around the world for Foodora couriers, Uber drivers, and other gig economy workers. But will the movement be successful?

<https://tinyurl.com/wp9l8nw>

FOOD SERVICE IS GRUELING WORK — SO MORE AND MORE WORKERS ARE ORGANIZING

From basic safety issues like nonslip mats in the kitchen to better salaries and benefits, the fight to create a more just industry ramped up this year

<https://tinyurl.com/t9sxklb>

Britain has closed almost 800 libraries since 2010, figures show

Annual survey shows sharp cuts to local authority funding have led to the loss of 17% of branches, alongside sharp staff and funding shortfalls

<https://tinyurl.com/snsne5t>